Background and Purpose

Senior Centres are public facilities operated by non-profit organizations; they target people age 55+; they offer a minimum of 15 hours per week of a broad range of programs, as well as offering services and activities. Participating Centres provide a range of programs and services for older adults in Edmonton. In recognition of the value of collaboration and shared resources, this MOU establishes a reciprocal membership program. Under this agreement, members of one Participating Centre may register in instructional courses at another Participating Centre at the member rate. This arrangement aims to: • Expand program access and flexibility for older adults. • Increase registration and reduce class cancellations. • Strengthen the appeal of membership across Centres; and • Promote cooperation among seniors-serving centres.

Scope

This MOU applies only to instructional courses offered by Participating Centres. It does not extend to social programs, special events, or activities excluded by a Centre's policies.

- Reciprocal program registration applies only to Participating Centres.
- Registrants must present proof of membership from a Participating Centre. This agreement does not override internal registration policies of any Centre.

Roles and Responsibilities

- Participating Centres agree to accept reciprocal registrations in accordance with this MOU. The Edmonton Seniors Coordinating Council (ESCC) will maintain and circulate an up-to-date list of Participating Centres.
- Each Centre will communicate the list of Participating Centres, and the Purpose, Scope, and Associated benefits of this agreement to its members and the public in a method deemed 2 of 3 appropriate. This will enable consistent messaging across all Participating Centres to promote clarity and prevent misinterpretation. Additional Provisions
- Some Centres may apply administrative fees) or offer priority registration to their own members before opening courses to reciprocal members.
- Centres reserve the right to designate certain programs as member-exclusive to prioritize member access, particularly when program demand exceeds capacity.
- Membership fees may differ across Centres. • Reciprocal members are not eligible for voting rights or subsidy programs such as Access Passes or sliding-scale membership models, which remain reserved for full members.
